Dear Mad)

I this minute learn that Colonel Morse embarks in an hour for Halifax, and as it is now within half an hour of dinner time, I shall only be able to write a few lines. - I am anxious beyond measure to know if my letter relative to your connection with General Hox as his Secretary arrived in season; - The evening before he failed he wrote me a note to know if I had received an answer to my letter to you on that Subject. I told him I had written fully to you but had received no answer as there had been no arrival from the part of the Country where you was since my letter could
