as you do, in the highest terms of Captain Deynott, but neither of them gave any reason to think he was going to be removed, but on the contrary, seemed to intimate the advantages I was likely to receive from his knowledge of circumstances, and his situation in the situation. I do not think that for the present, any further judgment can be formed, nor, till I arrive in Halifax, and have some conversation with General Bowyer, and as you propose being at New Brunswick in the autumn, I shall then be able to communicate to you any alteration which may take place in the Official Department at Halifax. I feel much obliged for the occasional information you give me hopes of receiving from you when you have re-assumed your situation, and I have the honor to be Sir

With great truth and esteem

Yours most Obedient

Humble Servant
