

proper attention to his education, he shou^d. have turn^d. out a Blackguard. What remorse, what strings of conscience wou^d. you have felt?

We have now done all that God & our own consciences can require of us. If accidents happen to him we have nothing to answer for. Therefore Madam, instead of fetching a sigh, join me in wishing him a good passage, & let what will happen. We

We will bear it handsomely.

There, I Christian-like doctrine for you and faith Mary, (whatever the World may say of me) When put to a severe test — I am a Christian.

To be sure I am

religion — I don't

and I can't cry — (but on very particular occasions).

— Exclusive of these external & internal ceremonies, I perform the duties of Christianity tolerably well.
