36. ventured to put on a coat, and shoes - my leg & arm continue very much swelled but I am prodigious ly relieved, & anticipate the pleasure of enjoying the fresh air in a very few days.
Really Wife I have had a terrible time.

Good night.

God bless you.

Printed by Wm. B. D. 25. Sept. 1704.
It is not possible for any pen or tongue to describe the variety of wretchedness that is at this time exhibited in the Streets of this Place, and God knows, I am obliged to hear a large proportion of it. — This is what we call a Board-day & the yard in front of my House has been crowded since eight o'clock with the most miserable objects that ever were beheld. —
