time ago that I had descended from ten to seven shillings a day. Captain Sproule has since had letters from his agent
which inform him
that his accounts for

met with great difficulties at the Treasury, and are yet unsettled, Lord Sydney having only recommended to advance him the money on account. —

Mr. Morris's accounts for the contingent expen-
ces of his office have been absolutely refused payment on a decision of Lord Sydney to the amount of £350 —
